By STOXON WALL. New York, December 1.-The day on the stock market was dull and irregular. Sales were remarkably small even for a short session, the total being 132,300 shares with United States Steels portion 25,000. The foreign news exerted little influence on the current of prices, the Russian on the current of prices, the Russian situation being considered as grave, as it will ever become, the Landowns letter being discounted and international conditions disregarded. Rails continued soft, though small gains were registered in most of the important issues. Reading and Union Pacific showed some strength, the latter recovering a point of its recent 2 point loss. Reading rained 1% as

2 point loss. Reading gained 1% as also did New Haven.
Bethlehem Steel in the earlier part of the session was under pressure but with the general firming of the market during the final hour due to the current investors buying, closed with a % gain.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, Dec. 1.—An easier undertone pre-tailed in the cotton market today and trading was light. Tenders on December contracts were between 2.09 and 3.000 bales. At the opening price changes were irregular, January showing a loss of 2 points, April being up 19 points on one sale, and other months showing advances of 2 to 6 points. The tone was steady. The market continued irregular later in the secsion, being easily influenced by small orders either way.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—There was more or less pressure shown in the corn market today, although the net decline for futures was only % to 1 cent for the day. Sample lots, however, were 10 to 15 cents lower, with buyers indifferent. Cash corn at Peorla was unchanged to 10 cents higher on an ungent demand from manufacturers of alcohol.

Advices from the interior reported an increase in the supply of corn. Buying of nutures was cattered and made up of small orders. Commission houses were conspicuous sellers.

There are many holes to fill with corn and until there is an accumulation of stocks in various positions there will be some of this grain for delivery on speculative contracts.

There were price declines of % to % cent in the oats market. Conditions pointed to an overbought atimation with holders inclined to sell at least part of their lines. The buying was of the half-hearted description and any increase in the oftening showed poor absorption. The decline of 35 to 30 cents for bogs at the yards was the leading bearish influence in the provision market. Commission houses led in the buying late, and there was some reaction from the bottom prices. Trade in the aggregate was light, but cured means were firmly held.

Kill Measure, Says Rumor.

Steps to increase the amount of coal shipped to Washinston and the proper division of that which arrives will shortly be inaugurated by John L. Weaver, Federal fuel administrator for the District, and Jesse C. Sutter, working in co-operation with Mr. Weaver.

Mine operators probably will be required to supply a certain quota to fill the city's needs. Dealers may be required to supply a certain quota to their stocks of coal and a daily list of coal shipments received in the city will be asked of the railroads.

Consumers may be asked to fill in blanks stating their stock of fuel on hand and give the name of the regular dealer; the size of their house; the number of stoves, and the manner of heating their homes.

During the last twenty-four hours, ending at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, reports showed that forty-three carloads of anthracite and twentynine carloads of bituminous coal had been received in the yards of railroads here.

During the day it was estimated that approximately 1,800 tons of anthracite and 1,500 tons of bituminous coal arrived in the city.

THE AD-LETTER CONTEST

Three Merchandise Orders Each Sunday for Merely Writing Letters

The object of this contest is to stimulate the interest of The HERALD readers in the wonderful announcements of the advertisers whose advertisements appear each Sunday in this paper and to encourage a keener appreciation of the values

What constitutes a good value? Why do some ads appeal more strongly to you than do others? Why did this or that advertisement impress itself upon your memory?

Study the ads in this Sunday's issue. Try to analyze the values that made the deepest impression on your mind. Then write down your reasons. Simple, isn't it?

Now! For the best letter received each Sunday we will award a merchandise order for $3.00; for the second best letter a merchandise order for $2.00; for the third, a merchandise order for $1.00. Orders will be given on the stores advertising below. Each of these letters will be published in full, with the name and address of the writer, the following Sunday.

Rules Governing the Ad-Letter Contest Every reader of The HERALD is entitled to enter this con-

The contest will run every Sunday. The letter must not exceed 100 words in length.

The letter must bear the name and address of the writer, and in no instance will we assume responsibility for the return of the manuscript. The letter must be submitted by the following Thursday in order to reach us in time for consideration. The announcement of the winners will be found in next Sunday's paper.

If you can write a letter you stand a chance to obtain one of these merchandise orders.

The conditions of the contest are all set forth in this announcement. It will not be necessary to write for further particulars. Just send in your letter, typewritten if possible, together with your name and address.
